ICT Project Manager in the Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions

The Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions (ODPP) is embarking on a major digital transformation initiative to modernise its core ICT systems and better support the delivery of prosecution services in an increasingly complex and data-driven justice environment. Central to this transformation is the replacement of the Office's legacy Case Management System — a critical platform that underpins legal decision-making, case tracking, disclosure obligations, and statistical reporting.

This project represents a cornerstone of the ODPP's ICT Modernisation Programme and is aligned with national digital strategies and public sector reform objectives. To lead this strategically important initiative, the Office is now recruiting an experienced ICT Project Manager (Assistant Principal) who will play a pivotal role in delivering a secure, scalable, and future-proof solution that meets the operational needs of the Office and supports collaboration across the wider criminal justice sector.

The Office

The ODPP was established by the Prosecution of Offences Act, 1974. Our mission is to provide a Prosecution Service that is independent, fair and effective. The Director is independent in the performance of her functions.

The Director enforces the criminal law in the courts on behalf of the People of Ireland; directs and supervises public prosecutions on indictment in the courts; and gives general direction and advice to the Garda Síochána in relation to summary cases and specific direction in such cases where requested.

The ODPP has four divisions:

1. The Corporate Services Division is responsible for providing services and supports for the Office in the area of human resources, organisational development, strategy, ICT, Finance, communications, governance and accommodation.
2. The Directing & Specialist Units Division is responsible for examining the investigation files to decide if there should be a prosecution. There are also two specialised Units within this Division, the Serious and Sexual Offences Unit and the Special Financial Crime Unit, which have both a directing function and prosecute cases in court.
3. The Solicitors Division prepares and conducts cases on behalf of the Director in the Dublin District Court, Circuit Criminal Courts across the country, the Court of Appeal, the High Court and Supreme Courts. This Division also supports and oversees the State Solicitor Service nationally.
4. The Prosecution Support Services Division is responsible for supporting the criminal prosecution work in the areas of international law, provides reasons to victims and conducts reviews of decisions not to prosecute, prosecution standards, and policy and research.

Each Division of the ODPP is overseen by a member of the Senior Management Team (SMT). The Units and Sections in each Division are managed by members of the Management Board and staffed with people with different skills and backgrounds. A detailed description of the work of each of the divisions of the Office is available at <https://www.dppireland.ie/about-us/our-organisation>.

The Director of Public Prosecution also relies on state solicitors in 30 locations and panels of barristers to represent her in cases that are prosecuted on indictment in the higher courts. All summary matters that are prosecuted by the Gardaí in the District Court are prosecuted in the name of the Director. The State solicitor service, Counsel and An Garda Síochána are therefore important partners in the provision of a prosecution service.

The ODPP is an inclusive and progressive employer that values flexibility, wellbeing, and professional growth. We support our people through a range of family-friendly and flexible working options, including worksharing, shorter working year, and blended remote working. As a learning organisation, we are committed to continuous professional development through in-house traineeships, third level education supports, and participation in cross-divisional and external criminal justice initiatives.

Further details can be found at Working With Us and Our Mission and Values.

Information and Communications Technology Unit

The ICT Unit plays a critical role in enabling the Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions to deliver a fair, independent, and effective prosecution service in an increasingly digital justice environment. As the complexity and volume of digital evidence grow, the Unit is responsible for maintaining and modernising the Office's technology estate to support secure, efficient, and responsive operations. This includes managing core infrastructure, cybersecurity, digital evidence handling, and the Office's legacy Case Management System, which is central to case processing, disclosure, and data-driven decision-making.

The Unit leads the ICT Modernisation Programme, a multi-year initiative aligned with national digital strategies, aimed at transforming the Office's digital capabilities, improving interoperability with justice sector partners, and ensuring compliance with cybersecurity and governance standards. The ICT Unit also supports remote working, disaster recovery planning, and the adoption of emerging technologies, while balancing innovation with the protection of sensitive data and individual rights

The Role

The ICT Project Manager (Assistant Principal) will be a key member of the ICT Unit, responsible for the professional delivery of major technology projects that support the Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions in carrying out its statutory functions. The initial and primary focus of the role will be the end-to-end delivery of the replacement of the Office's legacy Case Management System — a strategically critical project within the Office's which encompasses a wide range of change management activities.

Beyond this initial delivery, the role will evolve into a broader portfolio-based position, leading and contributing to a rolling programme of ICT initiatives, including system enhancements, cross-agency integrations, digital evidence initiatives, data and reporting improvements, and emerging technology projects. The post holder will act as a focal point for structured project governance, ensuring that initiatives are well-planned, risk-managed, aligned to national digital strategies, and delivered in a way that supports sustainable change across the organisation.

While the initial focus of the role will be ICT-related projects, the Project Manager may, over time and in line with organisational priorities, be assigned to lead or support other strategic projects across the Office where project management capability is required.

Initial Key responsibilities include:

- Leading the day-to-day delivery of the Case Management System project within a defined governance structure.
- Coordinating internal legal, operational, and technical stakeholders to ensure business processes are accurately captured and reflected in the new system.
- Managing vendor engagement, procurement activities, and contract oversight in line with public sector procurement guidelines.
- Overseeing system configuration, testing, data migration, training, and change management activities with the selected vendor.
- Ensuring compliance with cybersecurity, data protection, and accessibility standards with the Office's wider ICT Team.
- Reporting regularly to the Chief Information Officer and the Senior Management Team.

Ongoing Key responsibilities include:

The Office's digital transformation agenda, the rapid evolution of justice-sector technologies, and the growing complexity of ICT governance mean that the need for structured, professional project management will continue well beyond the delivery of the new Case Management System.

The ICT Project Manager will contribute to — and often lead — a diverse portfolio of projects across the full ICT landscape, including modernisation initiatives, cross-agency integrations, data strategy delivery, and operational improvements, including:

1. Continuous Evolution and Enhancement of the Case Management System

- Ongoing optimisation, release management, and incremental improvement.
- Extension of new modules for areas such as disclosure, digital evidence and reporting.
- Governance of vendor roadmaps, upgrades, enhancements, and service performance.
- Business process refinement as legislation and prosecutorial practice or procedures evolve.

2. Integration with Partners Across the Criminal Justice Sector

Ireland's justice system is moving increasingly toward data sharing and digital interoperability, driven by cross-government commitments to the Digital Ireland Framework, the Justice Sector Digital Strategy and the expansion of digital evidence flows. For example, the national rollout of An Garda Síochána's Digital Evidence Management System (DEMS) represents a major transformation in how digital evidence (CCTV, body-worn cameras, mobile data, etc.) is managed. For the ODPP this will likely involve designing processes for ingesting, storing, reviewing, and disclosing evidence and working with An Garda Síochána, the Courts Service, and vendors on operational workflows.

3. Continued ICT Modernisation Initiatives

The ICT estate will continue to evolve, driven by cloud adoption strategies, hardware lifecycle replacements, software rationalisation, unified communications and remote working improvements, infrastructure upgrades, backup and archival modernisation, and other technical enhancements. Many of these will require a project management discipline to ensure effective planning, implementation, and stakeholder communication.

4. Embedding a Culture of Project Management in the ODPP

A key long-term responsibility will be helping to establish standardised project initiation and closure processes, consistent governance and reporting structures, templates and toolkits for business owners, improved change control and documentation, training and awareness activities across the Office to help it to move towards a more mature, predictable, and strategically aligned project delivery model.

Please note the duties listed above are not exhaustive; additional responsibilities appropriate to the grade may be assigned.

The Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions will consider requests for review in accordance with the provisions of the Codes of Practice published by the Commission for Public Service Appointments (CPSA). The CPSA are the principal regulator of recruitment and selection in the Irish public service. They ensure that appointments to the civil and public service are fair, transparent and merit-based. The CPSAs Code of Practice is available here and it sets out the key recruitment principles and standards for appointments. Further information about the CPSA and what they do is available here.

Where a candidate is not satisfied with an action or decision taken by the ODPP during the competition selection phase, they can seek an informal/formal review or make an informal/formal complaint concerning that decision under Section 7 and 8 of the Code of Practice. A candidate can request a review of a decision or make a complaint at any stage while the selection process is ongoing. A summary of Section 7 and 8 of the Code of Practice is as follows whilst full details are provided in the link above: -

- When submitting a request for an informal review (under Section 7) or making an informal complaint (under section 8) the candidate must address their concerns in relation to the process in writing, clearly outlining the reasons why they believe the selection process was unfair in their case. This must be sent to the Head of Recruitment, The Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions, via email to recruitment@dppireland.ie within 5 working days of notification of the selection decision. The ODPP will examine the informal review/complaint as soon as possible and notify the candidate of the outcome within 5 working days from receipt of the review/complaint. The informal review will usually be completed by a member of the HR-OD Team who was not directly involved in the decision-making process.
- If a candidate remains dissatisfied following the informal review/complaint process, they can proceed through the formal process via formal review (under section 7) or formal complaint (under section 8). A candidate can request a review of a decision or make a complaint at any stage while the selection process is ongoing. A complaint or request for a formal review must be made within 5 working days of the notification of the initial decision or within 5 working days of the outcome of the informal process, if availed of. This must be sent to the Head of Recruitment, The Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions via email to recruitment@dppireland.ie. The ODPP will conduct a more thorough examination of all relevant information whilst consulting with all parties before making a decision. The outcome of the formal review/complaint will be notified to the candidate within 25 days of the Office receiving the request for the formal review/complaint. The formal review will be completed by someone who is independent of the selection process and usually outside of the HR-OD Team. In some cases, for formal complaints the reviewer will be an individual outside of the ODPP.

Should a candidate not be satisfied with the decision of the ODPP concerning the formal complaint an appeal to the CPSA is permitted under Section 8 of the Code of Practice. Where a candidate believes that an aspect of the process breached the CPSA's code of practice, they can have it investigated under Section 8 of the code by the CPSA. An appeal to the CPSA must be made within 10 working days of the candidate receiving the notification of the ODPP's decision about the formal complaint. Further details concerning making an appeal are available in Section 8.3 of the Code of Practice.
